

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

12/10/2009

Dear Life Group leaders,

Merry Christmas!

This is our last set of discussion questions before we take a break for Christmas and New Year. You'll find it's a topical study intended to minister to both our church family and the guests we bring with us to church on Christmas Sunday, December 20th. We'll resume providing questions for your Life Group studies on Sunday, January 3rd.

Along with this week's questions, you'll find a coaching tip with several ideas for your holiday Life Group meetings. It includes two seasonal icebreakers, a fellowship activity that will help your members get to know each other better, a worship activity to draw them close to Christ during this holy season, and an idea to help your group reach out to a family in need. There are several families in our congregation like that right now. If your Life Group would like to minister to one of them, please let us know. We'll be glad to put you in touch with them.

Finally, we encourage you to listen to the audio message we've provided for you. The last study question this week focuses on John 1:1-14. So we've included a Christmas message by Pastor John Piper that will help you understand the significance of this passage. We hope you'll listen to it and enjoy it.

So take a well-deserved break and bask in the presence of Christ. We appreciate your ministry to our church family.

God bless you, and Happy New Year to come!

Pastors Gary and Glen
